

Marley Enfield Stutz
Maid of Enfield Farm
Frederick County, Maryland

For Marley Enfield Stutz, jousting has always been a family affair. She is a third-generation jouster, started by her grandfather and charter member of the National Jousting Hall of Fame, Leon Enfield. The Maid of Enfield Farm grew up watching her grandfather, dad, aunts, uncles, brother, and cousins all ride down the track. At just two and a half years old, with mom and dad walking on either side, she rode down the track for the first time on her horse Sweetie and never looked back.

The Maid of Enfield Farm won her first National championship in the Novice class at the age of 10. Striving to someday ride with the best of the best and compete alongside her dad and brother, Marley continued jousting through high school and college, earning State, National and local wins at both the Amateur and Semi-Professional levels. In 2021, Marley won the Semi-Professional WMJC championship, her final official win to move up to the Professional class.

Dedicated to keeping the Maryland state sport alive, Marley continues to help set up and tear down at tournaments, hangs rings, mentors young riders, and participates in exhibitions and clinics. Now also serving on the WMJC board as Secretary and Treasurer, Marley looks forward to many more years of participating in and promoting the sport of jousting.
