Beth Humphreys Eubank, born on September 25, 1961, in Amherst County, VA. A county known for farming and the sport of jousting. Beth became involved in jousting in the 70's while dating John Eubank and later marrying him in 1983. Attending and helping at a local level Beth became even more involved in the 90's when son Jesse started to joust. Beth's willingness to help with registration, hang rings, announce a class, or even announce the whole joust makes her an essential part of each joust. In 2001 while attending a joust at Pedlar Farm lightning struck the Eubank's horse trailer throwing Beth several feet away onto the ground as well as instantly killing her son's horse "Thumper". It was GOD'S will that her life was spared that day and was made possible for her to be with us today. We are honored to have her as a Inducte into the National Jousting Hall Of Fame.
